

tapnudge is the fastest human sentiment engine.

A social feedback platform for asking questions, sharing opinions, and getting quick feedback from real people.

What tapnudge does tapnudge lets people create short, visual prompts called nudges and collect fast responses from real people. It helps people move from uncertainty to clearer decisions by making feedback lightweight, social, and immediate.

Who it is for

- Everyday users looking for second opinions.
- Creators testing concepts, content, looks, or ideas.
- Founders, designers, and teams validating early choices.
- Communities and audiences that want to see what people think in real time.

Why it matters

Most social platforms are built for broadcasting, attention, and passive scrolling. tapnudge is built for feedback. A person asks. Others respond. The result is fast human sentiment instead of waiting days, weeks, or months for useful input.
